Presents a Webinar on:

Presenting Economic Evidence in Courts

Wednesday, November 19, 2025

14:00 CET / UTC +1

Court decisions and reviews of decisions made by competition authorities are essential for the effective and fair enforcement of competition law. However, presenting economic evidence to courts can be challenging for a number of reasons. This webinar will share best practice and good examples of how economic evidence should be presented in court, and to discuss what works and what does not, and what economists and lawyers should pay particular attention to when preparing for a court hearing.
